To whom it may concern,

I'm writing to voice my support for protecting the Gaviota Coast from further development. I'm a lifelong Santa Barbarian that is proud of our community's commitment to land preservation. We have something most communities do not have: WILDERNESS. As the largest remaining rural coastline in Southern California, Gaviota does much to protect our strong reputation for land stewardship and access to wilderness. Please consider the many benefits that undeveloped land provides – like diverse eco-systems, clean air and recreational access – and act accordingly. The Gaviota Coast does not need us, but we need the Gaviota Coast.

Dear Supervisors,

- The Gaviota Coast Plan is a critically important tool reflecting a vision to protect and enhance this extraordinary stretch of coastline into the future, and must be fully implemented in the Coastal Zone.
- The Coastal Commission worked diligently with the County to address concerns over the suggested modifications, and made significant concessions to help resolve the County's concerns including concerns raised by Gaviota Coast farmers and ranchers.
- As modified, the Gaviota Coast Plan requires less permitting for ongoing agricultural operations than the County's existing certified Local Coastal Program, fitting the needs of farmers and ranchers better than the rules currently on the books, while ensuring that the Gaviota Coast's sensitive habitats are protected.
- If the County rejects or fails to accept all 13 suggested modifications to the Gaviota Coast Plan, the outdated 1982 Local Coastal Program will continue to apply, disadvantaging the environment including agriculture, and squandering years of time, effort, and financial resources.
- The Board of Supervisors should accept all the Commission's modifications on October 16th, to allow the Gaviota Coast Plan to take effect in the Coastal Zone as soon as possible.

Honorable Supervisors:

Having lived and conducted environmental research in the Santa Barbara South Coast, including the Gaviota Coast region, for most of the past 45 years, I wish to transmit my opinion and concerns regarding the Gaviota Coast Plan from a scientific, and a long-time resident's perspective.

This region represents the biogeographic meeting point of northern and southern California, and as such, sustains a unique and highly biodiverse landscape that is both resilient to the vagaries of our high volatile weather patterns, yet sensitive to impacts from human developments. It is valued for its wildlife habitats, and furthermore our regional chaparral ecosystems in fact contain a greater proportion of the rare plants of California than any other major ecosystem type in the State. Years of poorly managed grazing has facilitated invasion of the lowlands by a wide range of noxious weedy species, esp. annual grasses and weedy forbs that are heavily implicated in increasing the risk of wildfire owing to their higher probability for ignitions (almost entirely from anthropogenic factors) leading to decline of coastal chaparral and dominance by these invasive species. At the same time, I strongly support the sustainability of well-managed agriculture, both for its economic value to the County and because good agricultural managers can play an important role in sustaining healthy ecosystems adjacent to farming lands.

My particular area of research involves the community and ecosystem processes in stream and riparian systems, which are high-value habitats that are richly represented in the Gaviota region. The often-intermittent systems nonetheless support diverse faunal assemblages that are sensitive to chronic inputs of sediments from upslope developments, including endangered southern steelhead trout which use some of the perennial portion of regional watersheds, including the small yet productive estuaries where streams meet the Pacific. The extent to which these micro-estuaries sustain the regional meta-population of steelhead are unknown, yet in the NOAA Recovery Plan are considered to be substantial.

In general, I strongly support the Coastal Commission's suggest modifications to the GC Plan, and the long-term protection of the Coast region for integrated agriculture and natural resource protection, with strong limitations on residential development in one of the few lightly-touched portions of the whole of coastal southern California.

Thank you for supporting continued protection of this important landscape.

Dear Supervisors,

Please accept all of the 13 suggested modifications to the Gaviota Coast Plan. The 1982 Local Coastal Program is outdated and impractical. The Gaviota Coast is not only an important part of our local history and heritage, its significance extends into the narrative of the Pleistocene migration of humanity to North America as well as the expansion of western civilization to the new world. The Gaviota Coast and its agricultural, cultural, and recreational resources should be preserved and protected from future development. With so little undeveloped coastline remaining in California, it is critical that the County adopt a supportive framework for the agricultural and ranching operations along the Gaviota coastline so they remain viable and profitable to ensure their sustainability. Otherwise more land will inevitably be sold to developers, further threatening this invaluable resource.

Subject: Protection of the Gaviota Coast

As home owner, tax paying citizens of Santa Barbara we request the you assure the environmentally sensitive habitats of the Gaviota Coast be protected and preserved.

We would like this to include the birds, wild animals, the agriculture of the area and the scenic beauty.

These are all treasured gifts for SB residents and all citizens of the USA.

Please use your voice and power to insure future generations are able to enjoy these treasures we all now have.

Your children, grandchildren and all future citizens will thank you ...you will leave a great legacy if you assure the area is protected. Be proud you can make a difference!

Sincerely,

Kim and George Morales

As a former resident of Isla Vista and Santa Barbara and with a strong affection for the Gaviota Coast to this day, it is my belief that the Board of Supervisors should accept all the Commission's modifications on October 16th, to allow the Gaviota Coast Plan to take effect in the Coastal Zone as soon as possible. Thank you.

Subject: Modifications to Protect Gaviota Coast

Hello to S.B. County Board of Supervisors,

My husband and I support the modifications proposed to protect the Gaviota Coast, including sensitive habitats, public access, views, agriculture and cultural resources of our County. We believe this is necessary in order to guarantee these resources for the general public now and into the future.

Please show your agreement by voting to support these changes.

Sincerely,

Mike and Betty Noling

To whom this may concern,

Please support the Coastal Plans Commissions suggested modifications that enhance protections for our sensitive environments along the Gaviota Coast.

With Climate change upon us we must protect the habitat for wildlife, botany, agriculture and human future generations to live in a healthy environment on our precious California Coast.

We must stand strong and not make short sighted decisions that destroy our cherished environments and habitats.

Wisdom and science shows us our lives depend on saving these precious habitats.

Sincerely,

Subject: Gaviota Coast Plan

I am writing to show support for a decision to accept the Coastal Commission's modifications to the Gaviota Coast Plan to ensure it can be implemented in the Coast Zone.

- The Gaviota Coast Plan is a critically important tool reflecting a vision to protect and enhance this extraordinary stretch of coastline into the future, and must be fully implemented in the Coastal Zone.
- The Coastal Commission worked diligently with the County to address concerns over the suggested modifications, and made significant concessions to help resolve the County's concerns including concerns raised by Gaviota Coast farmers and ranchers.
- As modified, the Gaviota Coast Plan requires less permitting for ongoing agricultural operations than the County's existing certified Local Coastal Program, fitting the needs of farmers and ranchers better than the rules currently on the books, while ensuring that the Gaviota Coast's sensitive habitats are protected.
- If the County rejects or fails to accept all 13 suggested modifications to the Gaviota Coast Plan, the outdated 1982 Local Coastal Program will continue to apply, disadvantaging the environment including agriculture, and squandering years of time, effort, and financial resources.
- The Board of Supervisors should accept all the Commission's modifications on October 16th, to allow the Gaviota Coast Plan to take effect in the Coastal Zone as soon as possible.

Dear SB County Supervisors,

As you know, the Gaviota Coast is a unique part of our heritage and worthy of your efforts for protection into the future. With so little undeveloped coastline remaining in California, it is critical that the County adopt a supportive framework for the agricultural and ranching operations along the Gaviota coastline so they remain viable and profitable to ensure their sustainability. As such, please accept all the 13 suggested modifications to the Gaviota Coast Plan so that we don't revert to the outdated and impractical 1982 Local Coastal Program.

Your efforts on this issue will be appreciated well into the future.

Subject: Please approve the Gaviota Coastal Plan

Dear Supervisors,

As a sixty year resident of Santa Barbara, the importance of saving this open green area has become very important to me in the last few years with the influx of more development.

With this development at the edge of Gaviota more people and vehicles threaten what we knew as rural area so very quickly. Consciously or unconsciously, our lives are being impacted. The Gaviota Coastal Plan seems to be a reasonable way to help farmers and ranches use their land and at the same time giving everyone the chance to appreciate this open space whether they view it from Highway 101 or the Pacific Shore. Beyond what is easily visible, the ecosystem that the Gaviota supports is even more valuable today and for future generations. We are fortunate to have the Coastal Commission and so many members of our community working together. Please pass the Gaviota Coastal Plan as soon as possible.

Yours truly,
Candace White
