Cars Are Basic (CAB) supports the improvement and expansion of oil and gas production infrastructure in Santa Barbara County and the State of California. The county's legislative platform appears to dovetail into CAB's position.

Oil and gas production production facilities should be improved, modernized and expanded throughout the county. The legislative platform supports this plan, which is a positive step taken by county government in the direction of supporting the oil and gas industry.

CAB has always supported President Trump's plan to invest into the nation's infrastructure. That would include investing into the nation's oil and gas infrastructure. President Trump has called for the federal government to invest $200 billion into infrastructure, with a matching $800 billion contributed by private business. CAB believes that the federal government should contribute between $100- $200 million towards replacing and modernizing oil and gas pipelines, pumps, valves, emission control systems and safety devices throughout Santa Barbara County.

The 2015 line 901 spill was caused by federal, state and county government's failure to properly inspect and monitor oil pipelines throughout the county. President Trump, unlike Obama, is dedicated to safe and clean oil and gas production.
