I am writing in support of the Cuyama solar project. I am an SB County resident who has installed solar on both my current and previous home. Will this project solve our energy future? Of course not, but the challenges we face can only be solved by many many efforts that will combine to create a sustainable future for California, the USA and the entire planet.

Just because we cannot single-handedly solve the problem does not absolve us from the responsibility to start taking effective steps.

I urge you to be courageous and think of your Grandkids before you vote.

Respectfully,

Daniel Gunther, M.D., MFA

Dear Board of Supervisors, I am writing to express my wholehearted support for the building of a large solar energy complex on the Cuyama property. While I do not have information about the cost, if any, to the tax payer or to the county, I am a firm believer that we must be proactive in finding alternatives to fossil fuels. And, as is always the case, Santa Barbara County needs to continue to lead the country in making choices that are good for the environment. Please know that you have my support as you consider this very important possibility for our county. Sincerely, Kathleen A. McGuire

My wife and I wish to express our strong support for this project. The only thing we don't understand about it is why there is apparently a need for all of us to speak up in favor of it. The Cuyama solar array, together with a YES on Measure P in November, will demonstrate that Santa Barbara County is turning decisively away from reliance on fossil fuels towards eventual complete reliance on renewable energy sources. Hopefully that will encourage an increasing number of counties across the country to do the same.

If we care about the future of our children and the future of the planet, this is the only way to go.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Freeston

Dear Supervisors,

I ask you to support the Cuyama Solar Project. Santa Barbara County is in the position to become a leader in the implementation of solar energy projects, and I believe it is past time to use this source in sunny Santa Barbara County. We currently have oil companies from Bakersfield to Beijing, China, licking their lips over the prospect of massive oil drilling in our county. They want us to believe that solar energy is futuristic and thus not possible (I attended the Board meeting in Santa Maria when Measure P was discussed.)

I trust that you will understand the value and feasibility of solar energy and will let Santa Barbara County, once again, show that it is a forward-thinking and environmentally responsible place to live, work and play.

Thank you for considering my opinion.

I strongly support solar power and this solar project! This may just be a small drop in the bucket, but it is a step in the right direction-away from dependence on fossil fuel.

It is so important that we get this project off the ground. With so much gridlock in politics and so much apathy among well meaning people regarding the imminent dangers in our environment it is possible that we as a world could keep spinning our wheels and never advance much in our goals to meet the challenge of climate change. Every action in the right direction creates more action in the right direction so I support this project whole heartedly and want to add my voice to help speed it along.
