Summary Text:

This project entailed constructing a retaining wall and rebuilding the road on the south side of Hardinge Avenue behind 2176 Ortega Hill Road. The 66-foot long soldier pile retaining wall was constructed by embedding twelve 40-foot long piles in the ground with concrete, placing wood lagging in the upper 10 feet between the piles, excavating approximately 140 cubic yards of failed material, and backfilling to reconstruct the road bed. Hardinge Avenue was reconstructed for a 120-foot long section behind the wall with a new structural section, asphalt, curb, and fence. In addition, the slope on the front side of the wall was graded, erosion control blankets were placed, and new drainage facilities were built.

The project was accepted as complete by the Director of Public Works on June 22, 2007.
