I am passionate about uplifting and advocating for women, especially those facing systemic barriers and socioeconomic challenges. As a single mother of 3 girls turned community leader, I bring lived experience, resilience, and a deep understanding of the real issues women face in Santa Barbara County. I currently serve as the board president of a local nonprofit that supports at-risk youth/and founding board i believe I can help mentor more Young Women. My background in business leadership, nonprofit work, and community engagement has equipped me to listen, lead, and take action. I would be honored to serve on the Commission for Women and contribute to lasting, meaningful change.

As a lifelong resident of Lompoc with deep roots in Santa Barbara County, I bring both professional experience and personal dedication to serving the women in our community. I currently serve as Board President of the Lompoc Teen Center, where I work closely with at-risk youth, providing mentorship and supporting them in academic success, personal growth, and college readiness. My leadership has focused on advocacy, resource development, and building strong community partnerships. Professionally, I have over a decade of experience in business management, including turning a struggling retail store into a top-performing, million-dollar location. That experience taught me to lead with purpose, manage teams effectively, and deliver results under pressure. I have also launched my own small business, SIMPLEELX, which showcases my passion for creative arts and entrepreneurship. My personal journey—from being a single mother at 22 to becoming a respected leader and advocate—shapes my drive to empower other women, especially those overcoming adversity. I actively volunteer, mentor young women, and believe strongly in the value of empathy, resilience, and faith in building community. I am confident that my lived experience, leadership skills, and unwavering commitment to equity and service align well with the mission of the Commission for Women.
