14. Termination for Cause

Either party reserve the right to immediately terminate this Agreement for cause subject to written notice. However, each party will have ten (10) calendar days after receipt of the termination notice to cure the breach. II. Project Plan

Weed Species to be Controlled: Noxious weeds in Santa Barbara County

Methodology: The Santa Barbara County Agricultural Commissioner's Office will sub-contract with the Upper Salinas-Las Tablas Resource Conservation District (US-LTRCD) to undertake this proposed project.

#	Task Name	Description
1	Limonium duriusculum (LIDU) Treatment	US-LTRCD staff will contract with Tidal Influence for all labor involved with LIDU treatment at the Carpinteria Salt Marsh. This firm is currently contracted through an agreement with the USFWS-Coastal program for these same tasks. They have been very successful with hand-pulling, scraping, and solarization treatment methods. If the University of California Natural Reserve staff allows herbicide or "green flame" treatment, they will be considered and carried out by Tidal Influence trained and qualified staff. Subcontractor treatment goals with the requested funds: 4,000 lbs. of LIDU pulled/scraped, 36,000 sq. ft. total treatment area.
2	Chloropyron maritimum ssp. maritimum (CHMAMA) Surveys, Mapping, Reporting	US-LTRCD staff will contract with Tidal Influence for survey, mapping, and reporting on CHMAMA occurrences in and around treated LIDU sites
3	CHMAMA Seed Collection, Processing, and Dispersal	US-LTRCD staff will contract with Tidal Influence for CHMAMA seed collection, processing, and dispersal.

4	LIDU efficacy survey, mapping, reporting	US-LTRCD staff will contract with Tidal Influence for efficacy survey, mapping, and reporting of the treatment areas. Maps of the treatment area and weight of LIDU removed will be available in the final report 30 days after the treatment seasons is complete on December 31 st 2020.
5	Project Management and Reporting	US-LTRCD administrative staff will coordinate grant invoicing, reporting, and general project management. All treatment data including area maps, efficacy surveys, photo-point monitoring surveys, LIDU tonnage removed, and CHMAMA seeds collected and dispersed will be available in the final report. The final report will be available no later than January 31 st , 2021, 30 days after the treatment season is complete on December 31 st , 2020.

Permits:

The US-LTRCD and UCNRS-Santa Barbara currently hold a Streambed Alteration Permit (1653 CD) from the California Department of Fish and Wildlife for this project through March 31st, 2023 (1653-2018-013-001-R5). The treatment season is outlined within the 1600 permit for August 15th-March 31st.

The US-LTRCD and UCNRS-Santa Barbara currently hold a Small Habitat Restoration permit (401) from the Central Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board for treatment of the LIDU in the Carpinteria salt marsh through December 15th, 2022. (34217WQ43)

The US-LTRCD and UCNRS-Santa Barbara have filed a CEQA Notice of Exemption for this project. SCH Number 2017058600.

Tidal Influence currently holds a CDFW Scientific, Educational, or Management Permit for salt marsh bird's beak seed collection valid through December 31st, 2023.

Location(s): Santa Barbara County

Weed Removal/Control Techniques(s): Treatment methods already in use will follow the conclusions from Carolyn Lieberman and the USFWS. In their research the most effective long-term treatments of Limonium duriusculum (LIDU) were scraping and solarization. (Lieberman et.al.) These techniques also fostered the regeneration of native perennials better than herbicide use. Currently, herbicide treatment of LIDU is not permitted by the reserve manager.

The subcontractor currently working on the site has developed new methods of LIDU treatment. Traditional manual removal and scraping methods will continue to be employed, although instead of bagging and transporting the plant material to the dump, it will be moved to areas to be treated with solarization tarps. The manually removed material will be placed beneath solarization tarps to create hummocks for future endangered salt marsh bird's beak Chloropyron maritimum ssp. maritimum (CHMAMA) habitat. Solarization tarps will be used in areas of dense monocultures. They will not be installed until after the CHMAMA has flowered and set seed. Tarps will be held in place with stakes and will remain on the site until near the end of the treatment season.

The subcontractor treatment goals will be 4,000 lbs. of LIDU removed and 36,000 sq. ft. of total treatment area.

III. Reporting

The Upper Salinas Las Tablas Resource Conservation District will produce mid-year and annual reports for the Santa Barbara County Agricultural Commissioner's office. All requested information will be provided as well as maps and site photos. Point data has been uploaded into the Cal Flora database and will continue to be updated as further survey and treatment is underway. Extensive mapping of LIDU and CHMAMA has been developed.
