I am a Santa Barbara resident living on E. Highway 246. My neighbors and I are VERY concerned about the increasing issuing of permits to grow cannabis, as well as the large amount of illegal cannabis growing. Behind our properties, on Tularosa Road, there appears to be an increasingly large amount of cannabis growing. As neighbors the odor on our properties is very bad at times. We do not know if it is being legally grown or not.

We live next to one of the most gorgeous wineries, which is also the only sustainable winery in the area, and there is great concern about how the cannabis will affect the taste of the grapes.

The winery is for sale and I happen to be there when a perspective buyer was looking at the property and his great concern was the possibility of the county issuing permits for cannabis to be grown on the adjoining farm land.

With 13 cannabis shops in Lompoc it is already being known as the cannabis capital of SB. County. Is this what our County wants. If it is shame on us. The element of people this industry brings to our area is NOT what the citizens want.

I know it is legal but I ask that these permits be greatly LIMITED.

Respectfully,
