Directed that the conceptual approval of the project be contingent on a revised project description including but not limited to the following as discussed at the hearing on March 4, 2008:

The larger rocks shall only be split and quartered;

The rock crusher shall operate inside one of the buildings and would only be used to crush rock for use in stabilizing the mounds of soil used to keep the trees alive onsite;

The new rock cutting buildings shall have air scrubbers to manage dust;

No more than 20 percent of the existing permitted 20,000 square foot rock stockpile would be rough cut and rough finished into landscape features (such as benches, fountains and other garden accessories). The remaining 80 percent of the existing permitted rock stockpile would be used to stabilize the mounds of soil that are used to keep the trees alive onsite;

The term "carving" shall be removed from the project description;

The project description shall define "bench" and "fountain";

Only one percent of the parcel shall be used for the rock operations; and
