I would strongly oppose any cutbacks to the library budget. The programs offered by the Santa Barbara Public Library are essential to families with children as well as adults who utilize these important programs.

Hello,

I am a Santa Barbara resident and voter, and I would like to express my deep concerns regarding the cutting of funding to the public library. As an attorney who serves marginalized populations, I can tell you that a reduction in funding for the public library could severely impact the resources available to many local families. There are so many programs that the Santa Barbara Library offers, including crucial assistance for adult literacy and children's learning, that a reduction in funding could severely affect the opportunities available to many of our already-struggling residents.

Sincerely,

Hello,

I've been a volunteer with the Santa Barbara Public Library for several years and have had the opportunity to see first-hand its importance to the community. It seems to me that for many library patrons, they're using a service they might not be able to find elsewhere. The library offers many programs designed for children and adults and they're free and open to all.

I hope the County will consider continuing to fund the library and the benefits it offers to our community.

Sincerely,
Sally Sprankle
