

“In honor of Gov. Gaspar de Portola his officers and soldiers and Fray Juan Crespi (diarist) the first white men to march through the wilderness of California. Arrived at Santa Barbara Aug.18-26, 1769, and camped in this vicinity.”

Santa Barbara Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, 1927

“In honor of the first white women and children of the thirty families who marched through California with the colonization expedition of Juan Bautista de Anza and camped near here May 1776.”

Santa Barbara Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, 1938