Summary Text:

This item is on the agenda to amend the Santa Barbara County Code to allow for encroachments in the road right-of-way for business operations. These ordinance changes will provide for permitting and regulation of vendors, vehicles, and on-demand personal mobility operations, and to collect fees for their use of County right-of-way to administer the program and address impacts.

Operations, such as outdoor dining, carshare programs, and on-demand personal mobility devices (fee for use services for bicycle, scooter and other vehicle fleets), which encroach into sidewalk and other road right-of-way can be regulated through encroachment permits. The proposed ordinance changes provide a mechanism for these services to be provided on sidewalks or in the road right-of-way, where appropriate, and for the County to regulate their operations in these areas.

Background:

With recent advances in mobility technology, means of transportation are changing rapidly. Dockless on-demand mobility services have emerged, providing the public new travel alternatives. These companies place their electric bicycles or electric scooters throughout a community, providing an easy, affordable, and dependable means to travel short distances. This new and evolving service has potential for both positive and negative impacts to the community. To address these potential impacts, Public Works recommends changes to Santa Barbara County Chapters 9, 23, and 28.

The ordinances covering these types of operations also pertain to other business operations that encroach on County sidewalks or in the right-of-way, such as car share, outdoor dining, and food services. Public Works recommends updating existing ordinances for these operations concurrently and applying them uniformly across the County (some parts of the ordinance currently only apply to Isla Vista).

Fiscal and Facilities Impacts:

Budgeted: No

Narrative:

This is an Ordinance change and has no budget requirements at this time.
