After four years on the human services commission, my term expired on April of this year. I am proud of the role I have played on the commission. I have participated in multiple rounds of proposal assessments as part of the allocation committee, as well as leading the public relations committee. It has been rewarding work.

I have decided to not request another term. I would prefer to give another member of the first district the opportunity to participate in the commission's important community objectives.

I am happy to remain involved with the commission as necessary to assist with the transition.

I would also like to encourage my replacement be a person of color.

Sincerely,
Andrew Tosh
